

Gas Daily

Friday, October 9, 2009

QUOTE:

“That city-gate premium just won’t give up... a few power units were offline down south ... In the production area, El Paso in the San Juan Basin showed particular strength against the Permian Basin, probably due to a lot of San Juan supply heading north to the Rockies where cold and snow prevailed, a trader said.”